Subject: A Confession - From a Failure to a Scientist Dear Sandipan, I have been wanting to share something with you for quite some time now. As you know, I have always dreamed of becoming a scientist and making groundbreaking discoveries that would change the world. However, as much as I wanted it, I never managed to get there. In fact, I ended up doing nothing but wasting my life away. I know this may come as a shock to you, but I had to tell someone. It's not easy carrying this burden alone, and I hope that by sharing my story with you, I can finally find some closure. I know you have always been supportive of me, and I appreciate it more than words can express. But the truth is, I never had what it took to be a scientist. I was never good enough, smart enough, or dedicated enough. And despite my best efforts, I could never quite get my act together. As time went on, I realized that my dreams were nothing more than a pipe dream. I was never going to make it as a scientist, and I was stuck
